OPEN CAREER INQUIRY | REMOTE U.S. & LAS VEGAS

Dear Hiring Manager,

I am reaching out to explore current or upcoming opportunities where my background in systems engineering, enterprise technical support, cloud infrastructure, service delivery, and customer-facing technology operations could contribute to your organization. I welcome consideration across senior technical, specialist, customer success, operational, and management-track positions that align with my documented experience.

I bring more than 20 years of systems engineering experience, including over a decade working with cloud technologies. My background spans Linux systems, managed hosting, AWS and other cloud environments, databases, WordPress and e-commerce platforms, production troubleshooting, incident response, and complex escalations. I am comfortable translating technical issues into clear next steps for customers and collaborating across teams to improve reliability and service outcomes.

My current portfolio-based career analysis identifies 524 distinct job titles in a 95%–100% modeled resume-alignment range, including 286 in the 97%–100% range, with a 3.22% average modeled gap across the 524 titles. These are research-based title-alignment estimates—not employer-verified ATS scores or confirmed vacancies. For any relevant opening, I can provide a freshly tailored, accurate resume based on my current portfolio and the position's requirements.

I am particularly interested in opportunities spanning enterprise and L3 support, Linux and cloud engineering, technical account management, solutions and customer-facing technical roles, database and DevOps operations, managed services, web technologies, and other positions where technical depth, professional communication, and a strong service mindset matter. I am open to remote U.S. positions and Las Vegas-area opportunities.

I would welcome the opportunity to discuss where my skills could best support your team, including roles not yet publicly advertised. Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Blair Page
